DOSSIER NOTES

In preparing this background report, we undertook an examination of all readily available and relevant electronic and online records, several hundred Nexis and news articles, dozens of active and archived web pages, and several dozen public records from Nexis and the resources of various federal, state, and municipal government offices. The results of our analysis are contained below.

Typographical Note: There are a number of articles quoted in this report that contain typographical errors. These are from the original text of the article and have not been corrected when being quoted directly.

MAIN VULNERABILITIES

Morgan's Fiscally Irresponsible, Big-Government Platform

A review of Morgan's public actions has revealed a record of supporting a fiscally irresponsible, big-government platform.

On fiscal issues, Morgan appears supportive of the traditional tax-and-spend liberal approach. Specifically, Morgan has criticized tax cuts for corporations and higher earners. In 2018, Morgan opposed a constitutional amendment that sought to reduce the maximum allowable income tax rate in North Carolina. In 2020, Morgan used social media to implicitly provide support for a wealth tax and criticize the accrual of wealth. Morgan has also expressed support for wage mandates on North Carolina businesses. Unsurprisingly, Morgan has earned the support of prominent labor unions.

On energy issues, Morgan supports the left's anti-growth agenda. Morgan is vehemently opposed to offshore drilling in North Carolina and has called for the imposition of significantly stricter environmental regulations. More specifically, Morgan has called for "getting rid of the Hardison Amendment which prevents [North Carolina] from adopting stricter standards than the federal government." On social media, Morgan has been critical of fossil fuels and has indicated support for a "carbon neutral by 2040" policy. Unsurprisingly, Morgan has earned the support of environmentalist groups.

On education, Morgan opposes school choice efforts. Morgan has noted she supports "phasing out school vouchers for private schools" and a "moratorium on new charter schools" until stronger regulations have been imposed. Additionally, Morgan opposes public funds being sent to private schools and calls for oversight of charter school programs before receiving taxpayer funding.

On healthcare, Morgan appears in lock step with Democrats. Morgan has been a vocal supporter of Medicaid expansion. Moreover, Morgan supported the left's big-government reaction to covid. Specifically, Morgan called for mask wearing and social distancing and criticized calls to loosen covid restrictions.

Morgan Supports The Left's Woke Social And Public Safety Agenda

Morgan appears eager to promote the left's reckless 'woke' social agenda at the expense of public safety.

Morgan is predictably far-left leaning on issues surrounding immigration. Morgan appears opposed to ICE. On social media, Morgan indicated support for content from AOC praising Sen. Ed Markey after he announced his support for abolishing ICE and establishing "a pathway to citizenship for all 11 million undocumented immigrants in our country". Additionally, Morgan has been steadfast in her opposition to legislation that would have required North Carolina sheriffs to comply with ICE detainers. Moreover, Morgan has personally indicated support for the Obama-era amnesty program known as DACA. Morgan has also criticized border enforcement measures -- specifically the Trump Administration's southern border wall.

Morgan has also embraced a series of radical law enforcement and criminal justice reforms. Most concerning, in 2020, Morgan joined other Democrats in signing a pledge "to defund the police, restrict the ability of law enforcement to obtain basic protective equipment and strip citizens of second amendment rights with no due process". Separately, in 2020, Morgan encouraged participation in an initiative pushing several anti-law and order positions. The Morgan-backed initiative "called for ending cash bail and predatory fines and fees; an end to military training for law enforcement; investing federal funds into efforts to desegregate schools; and moving immigration oversight out of the Department of Homeland Security." On social media, Morgan has promoted content critical of the police and has noted that she wished she could have joined Black Lives Matter in protests during the summer of 2020. Notably, Morgan has opposed a Victim's Rights Amendment.

On traditional social issues, Morgan is in lockstep with the left's agenda. Morgan appears to be unapologetically pro-abortion. Specifically, Morgan protested the Supreme Court's decision to overturn Roe V. Wade and is a supporter of Planned Parenthood and other pro-abortion groups. Morgan is noted to have pushed progressive LGBTQ positions. Morgan supports the passage of an Equal Rights Amendment and was an outspoken critic of North Carolina's controversial transgender bathroom bill. Additionally, Morgan has expressed anti-second Amendment sentiments. Morgan supports several strict gun control policies, including an assault weapons ban, universal background checks, and red flag laws. Notably, in 2018, Morgan opposed an amendment that protected the right of the people to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife.

Finally, Morgan has pushed woke ideology as it relates to race. Morgan supports the concept of systemic racism, supports removal of confederate monuments, and has defended national anthem protests.

Morgan's Progressive Partisan Ties

Since entering the public domain Morgan has acted in a partisan manner, eager to embrace progressive individuals, policy platforms, and organizations.

Morgan appears to support the Democrat establishment's efforts to consolidate electoral power. Specifically, Morgan is opposed to common-sense voter ID laws.

Unsurprisingly, Morgan has indicated support for national liberal figures such as Roy Cooper, Bernie Sanders, Elizabeth Warren, Nancy Pelosi, and Barack Obama. Notably, Morgan indicated support for progressive activist Rev. William Barber.

On policy, Morgan has promoted the Poor People's Campaign, which pushes for major progressive policies. The Poor People's Campaign supports a single-payer Medicare for all system and Medicaid expansion, calls for higher taxes on the wealthy and corporations, demands "100 percent clean, renewable energy and a public jobs program to transition to a green economy that will put millions of people in sustainable living wage jobs", and calls for an end to "military aggression" and seeks to defund the military.

Notably, Morgan has enjoyed the support of dark-money liberal and progressive groups.

MORGAN'S FISCALLY IRRESPONSIBLE, BIG-GOVERNMENT PLATFORM

A review of Morgan's public actions has revealed a record of supporting a fiscally irresponsible, big-government platform.

On fiscal issues, Morgan appears supportive of the traditional tax-and-spend liberal approach. Specifically, Morgan has criticized tax cuts for corporations and higher earners. In 2018, Morgan opposed a constitutional amendment that sought to reduce the maximum allowable income tax rate in North Carolina. In 2020, Morgan used social media to implicitly provide support for a wealth tax and criticize the accrual of wealth. Morgan has also expressed support for wage mandates on North Carolina businesses. Unsurprisingly, Morgan has earned the support of prominent labor unions.

On energy issues, Morgan supports the left's anti-growth agenda. Morgan is vehemently opposed to offshore drilling in North Carolina and has called for the imposition of significantly stricter environmental regulations. More specifically, Morgan has called for "getting rid of the Hardison Amendment which prevents [North Carolina] from adopting stricter standards than the federal government." On social media, Morgan has been critical of fossil fuels and has indicated support for a "carbon neutral by 2040" policy. Unsurprisingly, Morgan has earned the support of environmentalist groups.

On education, Morgan opposes school choice efforts. Morgan has noted she supports "phasing out school vouchers for private schools" and a "moratorium on new charter schools" until stronger regulations have been imposed. Additionally, Morgan opposes public funds being sent to private schools and calls for oversight of charter school programs before receiving taxpayer funding.

On healthcare, Morgan appears in lock step with Democrats. Morgan has been a vocal supporter of Medicaid expansion. Moreover, Morgan supported the left's big-government reaction to covid. Specifically, Morgan called for mask wearing and social distancing and criticized calls to loosen covid restrictions.

MORGAN CRITICIZED TAX CUTS FOR CORPORATIONS AND HIGH-EARNERS

Morgan, In 2020: "We Must Put The Health And Needs Of Our Citizens Ahead Of Tax Cuts For Corporations Or The Most Wealthy Or Removing Environmental Protections"

Morgan, In 2020: "We Must Put The Health And Needs Of Our Citizens Ahead Of Tax Cuts For Corporations Or The Most Wealthy Or Removing Environmental Protections."
(Ballotpedia, 2020)

Please list below 3 key messages of your campaign. What are the main points you want voters to remember about your goals for your time in office?

- People before Profits: We must put the health and needs of our citizens ahead of tax cuts for corporations or the most wealthy or removing environmental protections.
- Environment and education are key: These are two resources that if we mess up, we cannot fix overnight. It's imperative we get it right.
- Collaboration counts: Our citizens are tired of politicians retreating to their partisan corners and want legislators to work together to find solutions to complex problems.

- One Of The Amendments Proposed To “Reduce The Income Tax Rate In North Carolina To A Maximum Allowable Rate Of Seven Percent (7%).” (Sanford Journal, 10/6/18)

Income Tax Cap Amendment

What it is: “Reduce the income tax rate in North Carolina to a maximum allowable rate of seven percent (7%).”

Why it is problematic: Morey noted the surface appeal of this amendment but described the small effect it would have on average North Carolinians. State income taxes are currently at 5% and only went over 7% temporarily after the recession. “If we pass this amendment and we have a crisis, taxes are going up, but they’re going up on sales taxes which are regressive and hurt the poor. . . they’re going up on property taxes. . . Services and fees, which are taxes, will be raised dramatically. The government will get its money somehow.” The current income tax cap is 10%.

(Sanford Journal, 10/6/18)

- NOTE: Voters approved the amendment.

MORGAN SUPPORTS INCREASING WAGE MANDATES ON NORTH CAROLINA BUSINESSES

Morgan Supports Increasing The Minimum Wage In North Carolina

Morgan Supports Increasing The Minimum Wage In North Carolina. “I have three main public policy priorities: (1) to restore education in NC to a place of pride, which includes paying teachers a respectable wage. A better-educated population is the foundation for a better future. This, in turn, supports (2) building a better economy through increasing the minimum wage, which in turn helps individuals afford better housing, and encourages new industries to come to this area. This further ties into (3) creating a cleaner environment through strengthening the DEQ, enforcing standards that currently exist, and getting rid of the Hardison Amendment which prevents NC from adopting stricter standards than the federal government.” (Ballotpedia, 2020)

MORGAN SUPPORTS THE LEFT’S ANTI-GROWTH ENERGY AGENDA

Morgan Opposes Offshore Drilling

Morgan Opposes Seismic Testing And Offshore Drilling. “We need to stop allowing our waterways to be poisoned by permitting them to be dumping grounds for industrial and agricultural waste. Clean air and water are valuable resources of this area, resources that draw people to live and vacation here with the expectation they will be able to enjoy our communities. Seismic testing and off-shore drilling will NOT bring revenue or jobs to the people who live here but WILL damage not only the marine mammals and sea turtles, but also living entities down the food chain; we need to promote alternate energy forms that don’t create a crisis because of a spill or a leak. We need to take care of Mother Earth so that the generations after us will still enjoy living here.” (Marcia Morgan, Accessed 8/1/22)

Morgan Opposes Public Funds Being Sent To Private Schools And Calls For Oversight Of Charter School Programs Before Receiving Taxpayer Funding

Morgan Opposes Public Funds Being Sent To Private Schools And Calls For Oversight Of Charter School Programs Before Receiving Taxpayer Funding. “We need to strengthen our public schools and provide quality education for ALL of our children, not just the privileged few. It is wrong to take money out of public education in order to bolster private schools for families who are looking for exclusivity. Some Charter schools provide amazing opportunities for the children they serve, but there should be a way to monitor and evaluate ALL programs before providing state and local funding. Additionally, we need to restore art, music and physical education to the curriculum to ensure our children are healthy and have a balanced skill set.”

MORGAN VOCALLY SUPPORTS MEDICAID EXPANSION

Morgan Has Committed To Medicaid Expansion

Morgan Has Committed To Medicaid Expansion. “What are the biggest challenges facing your district and what would be among your first priorities if elected? Morgan: As COVID continues to impact our state and local communities, my top priority would be making healthcare more affordable, starting by expanding Medicaid followed closely by economic reforms geared toward getting everyone back to work. Long term, my priorities would be to strengthen public education by raising teacher pay and per-pupil spending to at least the national average and by making corporate polluters pay rather than allowing cleanup costs to be passed along to taxpayers.” (Star-News, 9/28/20)

MORGAN SUPPORTS THE LEFT'S WOKE SOCIAL AND PUBLIC SAFETY AGENDA

Morgan appears eager to promote the left's reckless 'woke' social agenda at the expense of public safety.

Morgan is predictably far-left leaning on issues surrounding immigration. Morgan appears opposed to ICE. On social media, Morgan indicated support for content from AOC praising Sen. Ed Markey after he announced his support for abolishing ICE and establishing "a pathway to citizenship for all 11 million undocumented immigrants in our country". Additionally, Morgan has been steadfast in her opposition to legislation that would have required North Carolina sheriffs to comply with ICE detainers. Moreover, Morgan has personally indicated support for the Obama-era amnesty program known as DACA. Morgan has also criticized border enforcement measures -- specifically the Trump Administration's southern border wall.

Morgan has also embraced a series of radical law enforcement and criminal justice reforms. Most concerning, in 2020, Morgan joined other Democrats in signing a pledge "to defund the police, restrict the ability of law enforcement to obtain basic protective equipment and strip citizens of second amendment rights with no due process". Separately, in 2020, Morgan encouraged participation in an initiative pushing several anti-law and order positions. The Morgan-backed initiative "called for ending cash bail and predatory fines and fees; an end to military training for law enforcement; investing federal funds into efforts to desegregate schools; and moving immigration oversight out of the Department of Homeland Security." On social media, Morgan has promoted content critical of the police and has noted that she wished she could have joined Black Lives Matter in protests during the summer of 2020. Notably, Morgan has opposed a Victim's Rights Amendment.

On traditional social issues, Morgan is in lockstep with the left's agenda. Morgan appears to be unapologetically pro-abortion. Specifically, Morgan protested the Supreme Court's decision to overturn Roe V. Wade and is a supporter of Planned Parenthood and other pro-abortion groups. Morgan is noted to have pushed progressive LGBTQ positions. Morgan supports the passage of an Equal Rights Amendment and was an outspoken critic of North Carolina's controversial transgender bathroom bill. Additionally, Morgan has expressed anti-second Amendment sentiments. Morgan supports several strict gun control policies, including an assault weapons ban, universal background checks, and red flag laws. Notably, in 2018, Morgan opposed an amendment that protected the right of the people to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife.

Finally, Morgan has pushed woke ideology as it relates to race. Morgan supports the concept of systemic racism, supports removal of confederate monuments, and has defended national anthem protests.

MORGAN SIGNED A PLEDGE IN 2020 SUPPORTING DEFUNDING OF THE POLICE AND BAIL REFORM, AMONG OTHER RADICAL POLICIES

In 2020, Morgan Joined Other Democrats In Signing A Pledge “To Defund The Police, Restrict The Ability Of Law Enforcement To Obtain Basic Protective Equipment And Strip Citizens Of Second Amendment Rights With No Due Process”

“Forty-Seven Democratic Members Of The State House And Candidates Running To Join The Democratic Caucus Have Signed A Pledge To Defund The Police, Restrict The Ability Of Law Enforcement To Obtain Basic Protective Equipment And Strip Citizens Of Second Amendment Rights With No Due Process.” “Forty-Seven Democratic members of the state House and candidates running to join the Democratic caucus have signed a pledge to defund the police, restrict the ability of law enforcement to obtain basic protective equipment and strip citizens of Second Amendment rights with no due process. The pledge includes ending cash bail and the assignment of court fees and costs, one which would return some dangerous criminals back to the streets, the other which would further defund the police by eliminating revenue for police training and police retirement. Eight Democratic state Senate members and candidates also signed the pledge. While not all current Democrat house members signed the pledge, if all 47 of the pledge signers were elected, they would represent 85% of the current 55 Democrat members of the state House. Included in part of the pledge is the policy statement: “Police funding...has been shown to have no connection to crime rates” House Speaker Tim Moore (R-Kings Mountain) scheduled a press conference for Monday, Sept. 14 and released the following statement: “This radical pledge by House Democrats to defund police in North Carolina is a betrayal of the basic public trust to keep families safe, particularly in times of crisis, as crime rates rise in other areas led by the radical left,” Moore said. “Assessing expenditures on policing to identify evidence-based ways to generate savings...especially communities most impacted by current policing practices,” is an official policy promise of House Democratic leaders and candidates to North Carolinians,” Moore continued. “It is stunning that House Democrats in North Carolina would sign a pledge to defund law enforcement, and that so many in their caucus would join with radical national liberals promising to cut funding for police officers who protect innocent people.” Moore further noted that in exchange for at least $100,000 in donations, House Democratic candidates pledged to enact legislation requiring “a comprehensive review of the state’s police funding” to “reduce excessive policing.” The pledge is advocated and promoted by the organization Future Now Fund, and found at this link: <https://www.futurenow.org/> The group is classified as a 501(c)(4) issue advocacy organization with the sole purpose of helping Democrats win state-level races.” (Foundation For Research On Equal Opportunity, 9/14/20)

Improve Public Safety by Reinvesting Policing Savings in Community Based and Prevention Programs

Communities are safest when all residents have access to education, jobs and opportunities to build their lives -- higher education and employment levels are associated with lower crime rates. Police funding, on the other hand, has been shown to have no connection to crime rates. And police officers should be able to focus on the problems that they are trained to address, notably public safety, and free them from dealing with issues that others are more trained to handle like homelessness and substance abuse recovery. The Reimagine Communities Act involves impacted communities to invest police savings in proven youth, health, employment and housing programs that make communities safer.

Examples Of Reimagining Police Departments That Show Promise

"KING: So this is civilians responding to calls. Do police support that? WESTERVELT: They do because it relieves them, and it's cost-effective. I mean, on a budget of just over $2 million, this civilian team takes some 20% of Eugene's 911 calls. So it's saving money: It's saving police manpower. And also, Noel, this is key - these non-police interventions are keeping people out of emergency rooms and out of county jails. That's a huge savings. And remember, jails have become de facto America's biggest mental health facilities."

FAQ
Who does this help?	Research shows that expanding educational opportunities significantly reduces the probability of incarceration and arrest, and that access to jobs reduces criminal behavior. Assessing expenditures on policing to identify evidence-based ways to generate savings and increase public safety will benefit everyone, especially communities most impacted by current policing practices.
Is this high cost for the state government?	No. It merely allocates funding to a different mix of programs. In Eugene, OR, an alternate responder program in place for thirty years has saved the city about $8.5 million annually in public safety costs.
Is this reallocation to reduce policing costs popular?	Yes. Recent polling has found that 72% of voters support a new first-responder agency that addresses issues of addiction and mental health.

Make Communities Safer by Stopping the Use of Military Equipment Against Americans

Numerous studies have found that increased use of military equipment by police leads to increased civilian casualties. Yet since 2017, the Department of Defense has transferred nearly $760 million in military-grade equipment to local police and sheriff's departments with little oversight of how it is used. By stopping the transfer of military weapons to police departments, and bringing transparency to any non-weapon transfer of federal equipment, the Protect Communities Act will make communities safer and save money.

The Coalition Behind The Assembly “Called For Ending Cash Bail And Predatory Fines And Fees; An End To Military Training For Law Enforcement; Investing Federal Funds Into Efforts To Desegregate Schools; And Moving Immigration Oversight Out Of The Department Of Homeland Security.” “The policy agenda by the coalition, the Poor People’s Campaign: A National Call for Moral Revival, seeks to offer a concrete road map for tackling the systemic injustices that have captured the nation’s attention in recent weeks after the police killing of George Floyd. “The worst mistake we can make now, with all the marching, the protesting in the streets, would be to demand too little,” said the Rev. Dr. William J. Barber II, a co-chair of the campaign along with the Rev. Dr. Liz Theoharis. “We are here today to say together, ‘It’s time to choose life, America,’” Dr. Barber said at the end of the rally, which was streamed online. “It’s time for us to do it together. It’s time for a moral revolution of values.” Although the organizers said their coalition — inspired by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.’s

Poor People's Campaign, an effort that was cut short by his assassination — was nonpartisan, it offered a boldly liberal agenda. Among many other proposals, it called for ending cash bail and predatory fines and fees; an end to military training for law enforcement; investing federal funds into efforts to desegregate schools; and moving immigration oversight out of the Department of Homeland Security.” (The New York Times, 6/20/20)

Victims' Rights Amendment

What it is: "Constitutional amendment to strengthen protections for victims of crime, to establish certain, absolute basic rights for victims, and to ensure the enforcement of these rights."

Why it is problematic: Again, Morey understands the appeal of this amendment to voters. "Who would vote against that?" But, she noted, victims already have constitutionally protected rights. The amendment has an estimated $30 million price tag which she described as a "train wreck for our criminal justice system." Morey, a former judge, says an unfunded victim's rights mandate would create a logjam in the courts, slowing the already heavily-delayed judicial process to a crawl.

electmarciamorgan I had very mixed emotions leading up to this Fourth of July. It's always been a special day and I loved decorating my house with flags and banners, but this year was difficult. The recent Supreme Court decisions made me feel like the very freedoms this day represents were being taken away and that more erosion would follow. Then, I participated in a Freedom of Choice rally on Friday and was delighted and uplifted by the number of young women and men who were on that corner. The energy and enthusiasm was palpable and increased with every car that honked and gave a thumbs up as they drove by. Sure, there were a few negative responses, but they were few and far between. That rally gave me such hope for the future, that there are new generations who are ready to fight back. It's time to link arms with each other and realize that our voices must be turned into our votes. It's time to realize what we CAN accomplish when we work together. It's time to take back our democracy and our flag. #fourthofjuly #independenceday

Morgan: “Passing Heinous Bathroom Bills, Supporting Hate Groups That Seek To Divide Us, Branding Entire Religious Groups As Terrorists Or All Immigrants As Criminals, Merely Highlights The Negative Side Of Humanity.” “One of the key measures of a society is how well we treat each other and especially how we treat those who are different. In 2018, Morgan Criticized HB 2 As Symbolizing “The Regressive Policies Of The Current Legislature.” “An HB2 compromise between Republican lawmakers and Democratic Gov. Roy Cooper essentially repealed the law last year, though it failed to placate social conservatives or LGBTQ advocates. A year later, HB2 is no longer a hot button. But it has motivated at least a handful of candidates who see it as emblematic of a General Assembly that has taken the state in what they see as the wrong direction. “It is not the only thing I’m running on, but it is one of the things,” said Democrat Marcia Morgan, who’s running for a House seat in New Hanover County. A former Army officer and a lesbian, Morgan said HB2 symbolizes “the regressive policies of the current legislature.” Two Democrats running in Bishop’s District 39 are also talking about HB2.” (Charlotte Observer, 2/22/18)

Morgan Further Criticized HB 2 As A “Very Dangerous Bill.” “But Democrats seeking to retake control of the legislature - along with at least one Republican primary challenger - hope to benefit from anger over the law and its aftermath. The situation adds to the GOP’s challenges in districts where Democrats are already energized in opposition to President Donald Trump and unhappy with state Republican policies on taxes, school choice expansion and the environment. “HB 2 was a very dangerous bill, and it got my attention,” said Democrat Marcia Morgan, a lesbian and first-time candidate running this fall for the Wilmington-area House seat held by Republican Rep. The Hunting And Fishing Amendment Protected The Right Of The People To Hunt, Fish, And Harvest Wildlife

The Hunting And Fishing Amendment Protected The Right Of The People To Hunt, Fish, And Harvest Wildlife. (Sanford Journal, 10/6/18)

Hunting and Fishing Amendment

What it is: “Constitutional amendment protecting the right of the people to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife.”

Why it is problematic: Morey sees this amendment as “baiting voters.” It is very likely the average person will see this amendment as inconsequential. Yet the amendment still poses a threat. Any restriction to hunting and fishing, however reasonable, could be in danger if the amendment is passed. For example, there are currently statutes in effect that limit hunting in certain public areas. The passage of this amendment could result in the loosening of these restrictions as hunting rights enshrined in the constitution take priority.

MORGAN'S PROGRESSIVE PARTISAN TIES

Since entering the public domain Morgan has acted in a partisan manner, eager to embrace progressive individuals, policy platforms, and organizations.

Morgan appears to support the Democrat establishment's efforts to consolidate electoral power. Specifically, Morgan is opposed to common-sense voter ID laws.

Unsurprisingly, Morgan has indicated support for national liberal figures such as Roy Cooper, Bernie Sanders, Elizabeth Warren, Nancy Pelosi, and Barack Obama. Notably, Morgan indicated support for progressive activist Rev. William Barber.

On policy, Morgan has promoted the Poor People's Campaign, which pushes for major progressive policies. The Poor People's Campaign supports a single-payer Medicare for all system and Medicaid expansion, calls for higher taxes on the wealthy and corporations, demands "100 percent clean, renewable energy and a public jobs program to transition to a green economy that will put millions of people in sustainable living wage jobs", and calls for an end to "military aggression" and seeks to defund the military.

Notably, Morgan has enjoyed the support of dark-money liberal and progressive groups.

Voter ID Amendment

What it is: “Constitutional amendment to require voters to provide photo identification before voting in person.”

Why it is problematic: Getting people to vote is hard enough. This amendment would create an additional barrier. Complicating this, the amendment gives the legislature complete discretion to decide what constitutes a photo ID. This legislation could result in limited voting rights for students and veterans. Morey believes the Republicans “will decide [what constitutes as a valid ID] in a way that will help Republicans win.”

"I think there are some great challengers to these incumbents here in New Hanover County and I strongly support their candidacies," Cooper said of Democrats challenging House and Senate Republican incumbents. "I want legislators who will work with me to improve public education and who will help me in the effort to fight GenX and to make sure our water is clean.” (Star-News, 8/30/18)

Everybody has the right to live. The U.S. Constitution was established to "promote the general Welfare and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity." Given the abundance that exists in this country and the fundamental dignity inherent to all humanity, every person in the United States has the right to dignified jobs and living wages, housing, education, health care, welfare, and the right to organize for the realization of these rights.

We demand the immediate implementation of federal and state living wage laws that are commensurate for the 21st century economy, guaranteed annual incomes, full employment and the right for all workers to form and join unions.

We demand an end to anti-union and anti-workers' rights laws in the states.

We demand equal pay for equal work.

We demand fully-funded social welfare programs that provide cash and in-kind assistance directly to the poor, including poor families. We demand an end to the attacks on SNAP, CHIP, HEAP, and other vital programs for the poor.

We demand equity in education, ensuring every child receives a high-quality, well-funded, diverse public education. We demand an end to the re-segregation of schools. We demand free tuition at public colleges and universities and an end to profiteering on student debt. We demand equitable funding for historically black colleges and universities and for Native, Tribal and Indigenous educational institutions, whose missions have not outlived their purpose.

We demand the expansion of Medicaid in every state and the protection of Medicare and single-payer universal health care for all.

- We demand public infrastructure projects and sustainable, community-based and controlled economic initiatives that target poor urban and rural communities.
- We demand fair and decent housing for all and the end to the rolling back of fair housing protections at HUD.
- We demand relief from crushing household, student, and consumer debt. We declare Jubilee.
- We demand relief from wealth inequality.
- We demand that the wealthy and corporations pay their fair share of our country's urgent needs around decent and affordable housing, free public education, a robust social safety net and social security. We demand the repeal of the 2017 tax breaks for the wealthy and big corporations and the reinvestment of those funds into public programs for housing, health care, education, jobs, infrastructure and welfare for the poor.
- We demand that the nation and our lawmakers turn their immediate attention to passing policies and budget allocations that would end child poverty. This includes a public hearing on the federal and state institutions charged with child safety and protection, including on how their resources are used to take children away rather than strengthening families.

The Poor People's Campaign Demands "100 Percent Clean, Renewable Energy And A Public Jobs Program To Transition To A Green Economy That Will Put Millions Of People In Sustainable Living Wage Jobs." (Poor People's Campaign, Accessed 8/1/22)

We have a fundamental right to clean water, air and a healthy environment and public resources to monitor, penalize and reverse the polluting impacts of fossil fuel industries.

- We demand 100 percent clean, renewable energy and a public jobs program to transition to a green economy that will put millions of people in sustainable living wage jobs.
- We demand a fully funded public water and sanitation infrastructure that keeps these utilities and services under public control and prioritize poor, rural and Native communities that have been harmed by polluting and extractive industries. This infrastructure must provide consistent, safe, reliable and affordable access to water and sanitation services such as refuse collection, containment and sewage systems, so as to prevent any leaks or leaching of lead or other toxins. This includes ending water shut offs.
- We demand a ban on fracking, mountaintop removal coal mining, coal ash ponds, and offshore drilling. We demand a ban on all new pipelines, refineries, and coal, oil, and gas export terminals. We demand that extractive industries be held accountable for the air, water and land they have polluted and poisoned and financially responsible for clean-up processes.
- We demand the protection of public lands and the immediate cessation of opening up public lands for polluting and extractive industries.

The Poor People's Campaign Calls For An End To "Military Aggression" And Seeks To Defund The Military. (Poor People's Campaign, Accessed 8/1/22)

The truth is that instead of waging a War on Poverty, we have been waging a War on the Poor, at home and abroad, for the financial benefit of a few. It is morally indefensible to profit from perpetual war.

We have the right to protect our communities from the ravages and weapons of war.

- We demand an end to military aggression and war-mongering.
- We demand a stop to the privatization of the military budget and any increase in military spending. We demand a reallocation of resources from the military budget towards our human security, including towards education, health care, jobs and green infrastructure needs, and strengthening a Veterans Administration system that must remain public.
- We demand a ban on assault rifles and a ban on the easy access to firearms that has led to the increased militarization and weaponization of our communities.
- We demand the demilitarization of our communities on the border and the interior. This includes ending federal programs that send military equipment into local and state communities and ceasing the call to build a wall at the U.S.-Mexico border.
- We demand an immigration system that, instead of criminalizing people for trying to raise their families, prioritizes family reunification, keeps families together and allows us all to build thriving communities in the country we call home.

“The 314 Action Coalition Was Founded By Members Of The Science, Technology, Engineering And Mathematics (STEM) Community, Grassroots Supporters And Political Activists In July 2016 And Has Over 400,000 Active Members And Donors Across The Nation.” “The 314 Action coalition was founded by members of the science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) community, grassroots supporters and political activists in July 2016 and has over 400,000 active members and donors across the nation. Members of the coalition are concerned that STEM education in the United States is falling further behind the rest of the world, that political leaders continue to deny scientific facts and that Congress fails to fully fund scientific research to solve pressing issues, according to the news release.” (Herald-Times, 4/26/18)

- 314 Action Is Regarded As A “Dark Money” Organization Due To Its Undisclosed Donations To Its Non-Profit Arm. “Linda Kenney, a professor of microbiology at the University of Illinois at Chicago College of Medicine, says something has to be done about the “dumbing down of science” by politicians. After reading about a group called 314 Action working to elect scientists to public office, it did not take much for Kenney to open her wallet. Now Kenney says she donates about $100 monthly to the group. “This is way overdue,” she says. “I don’t know if it’s money well spent, but it’s something I can do and I believe in it.” Kenney agreed to discuss her contributions for this story. But 314 Action plans to raise $5 million to $7 million for current candidates, and it will be impossible to know where the bulk of the money is coming from. That is because the group, named for the first three digits of pi, is taking advantage of a widely used and controversial campaign finance apparatus: a nonprofit arm that does not disclose its donors. This practice has been dubbed the use of “dark money” in the political world. It has become fairly standard for groups of all stripes—from Republicans to Democrats and from powerful business interests to unions. Planned Parenthood uses these undisclosed donations. So does the National Rifle Association. It is legal. But the practice also means the general public cannot learn much about the original sources of money behind political candidates. Aside from its nonprofit, 314 Action is also raising and spending money via a separate political action committee, or PAC, that is required to report donors to the Federal Election Commission (FEC). But most of the group’s funds will come from the nonprofit arm, which has no such requirement. It is registered as a “social welfare” group under section 501(c)(4) of the U.S. tax code. Nonprofits such as this, which advocate for policy issues, are forbidden from contributing directly to candidates. Nor are they allowed to make electioneering their primary activity. But they are allowed to spend some of their money on political TV ads, radio spots, mailers and digital communication to support or oppose candidates without having to disclose donors.” (Scientific American, 3/28/18)

314 Action Supports U.S. Participation In The Paris Climate Agreement

314 Action Supports U.S. Participation In The Paris Climate Agreement. “Josh Morrow, 314 Action’s executive director, says that for the most part the group uses its nonprofit arm to train candidates and for issue-based advocacy such as an online petition in support of the Paris climate agreement. But in this year’s elections, for the first time, money from the nonprofit will be used to buy political ads that help candidates who are often scientists running their inaugural campaigns. “For us, it’s about leveling the playing field for our nontraditional candidates,” Morrow says. He also notes most donors contribute relatively small amounts, not millions of dollars.” (Scientific American, 3/28/18)

APPENDIX A: ISSUES OF NOTE (BY SUBJECT AREA)

Below is a non-comprehensive reference section pertaining to Marcia Morgan's issues and policy positions of note. Any actionable material from this section has been incorporated into the prior narrative sections.

FISCAL AND ECONOMIC ISSUES

Overall

Morgan, In 2020: “We Must Put The Health And Needs Of Our Citizens Ahead Of Tax Cuts For Corporations Or The Most Wealthy Or Removing Environmental Protections.”

(Ballotpedia, 2020)

Please list below 3 key messages of your campaign. What are the main points you want voters to remember about your goals for your time in office?

- People before Profits: We must put the health and needs of our citizens ahead of tax cuts for corporations or the most wealthy or removing environmental protections.
- Environment and education are key: These are two resources that if we mess up, we cannot fix overnight. It's imperative we get it right.
- Collaboration counts: Our citizens are tired of politicians retreating to their partisan corners and want legislators to work together to find solutions to complex problems.

Income Tax Cap Amendment

What it is: “Reduce the income tax rate in North Carolina to a maximum allowable rate of seven percent (7%).”

Why it is problematic: Morey noted the surface appeal of this amendment but described the small effect it would have on average North Carolinians. State income taxes are currently at 5% and only went over 7% temporarily after the recession. “If we pass this amendment and we have a crisis, taxes are going up, but they’re going up on sales taxes which are regressive and hurt the poor. . . they’re going up on property taxes. . . Services and fees, which are taxes, will be raised dramatically. The government will get its money somehow.” The current income tax cap is 10%.

Minimum Wage

Morgan Supports Increasing The Minimum Wage In North Carolina. “I have three main public policy priorities: (1) to restore education in NC to a place of pride, which includes paying teachers a respectable wage. A better-educated population is the foundation for a better future.

This, in turn, supports (2) building a better economy through increasing the minimum wage, which in turn helps individuals afford better housing, and encourages new industries to come to this area. This further ties into (3) creating a cleaner environment through strengthening the DEQ, enforcing standards that currently exist, and getting rid of the Hardison Amendment which prevents NC from adopting stricter standards than the federal government.” (Ballotpedia, 2020)

ENERGY AND ENVIRONMENT

Overall

Offshore Drilling

Morgan Opposes Seismic Testing And Offshore Drilling. “We need to stop allowing our waterways to be poisoned by permitting them to be dumping grounds for industrial and agricultural waste. Clean air and water are valuable resources of this area, resources that draw people to live and vacation here with the expectation they will be able to enjoy our communities. Seismic testing and off-shore drilling will NOT bring revenue or jobs to the people who live here but WILL damage not only the marine mammals and sea turtles, but also living entities down the food chain; we need to promote alternate energy forms that don’t create a crisis because of a spill or a leak. We need to take care of Mother Earth so that the generations after us will still enjoy living here.” (Marcia Morgan, Accessed 8/1/22)

(Morgan Twitter, Posted 2/3/18)

Regulations

Morgan Calls For Stricter Environmental Regulations Including “Strengthening The DEQ, Enforcing Standards That Currently Exist, And Getting Rid Of The Hardison Amendment Which Prevents NC From Adopting Stricter Standards Than The Federal Government.” “I have three main public policy priorities: (1) to restore education in NC to a place of pride, which includes paying teachers a respectable wage. Morgan Has Committed To Medicaid Expansion. “What are the biggest challenges facing your district and what would be among your first priorities if elected? Morgan: As COVID continues to impact our state and local communities, my top priority would be making healthcare more affordable, starting by expanding Medicaid followed closely by economic reforms geared toward getting everyone back to work. Long term, my priorities would be to strengthen public education by raising teacher pay and per-pupil spending to at least the national average and by making corporate polluters pay rather than allowing cleanup costs to be passed along to taxpayers.” (Star-News, 9/28/20)

Morgan Opposes Public Funds Being Sent To Private Schools And Calls For Oversight Of Charter School Programs Before Receiving Taxpayer Funding. “We need to strengthen our public schools and provide quality education for ALL of our children, not just the privileged few. It is wrong to take money out of public education in order to bolster private schools for families who are looking for exclusivity. Some Charter schools provide amazing opportunities for the children they serve, but there should be a way to monitor and evaluate ALL programs before providing state and local funding. Additionally, we need to restore art, music and physical education to the curriculum to ensure our children are healthy and have a balanced skill set.” (Marcia Morgan, Accessed 8/1/22)

"This legislation is simply about scoring partisan political points and using fear to divide North Carolina. As the former top law enforcement officer of our state, I know that current law allows the state to jail and prosecute dangerous criminals regardless of immigration status. This bill, in addition to being unconstitutional, weakens law enforcement in North Carolina by mandating sheriffs to do the job of federal agents, using local resources that could hurt their ability to protect their counties. Finally, to elevate their partisan political pandering, the legislature has made a sheriff's violation of this new immigration duty as the only specifically named duty violation that can result in a sheriff's removal from office."

Reforms

Overall – Defund And Bail Reform Pledge

“Forty-Seven Democratic Members Of The State House And Candidates Running To Join The Democratic Caucus Have Signed A Pledge To Defund The Police, Restrict The Ability Of Law Enforcement To Obtain Basic Protective Equipment And Strip Citizens Of Second Amendment Rights With No Due Process.” “Forty-Seven Democratic members of the state House and candidates running to join the Democratic caucus have signed a pledge to defund the police, restrict the ability of law enforcement to obtain basic protective equipment and strip citizens of Second Amendment rights with no due process. The pledge includes ending cash bail and the assignment of court fees and costs, one which would return some dangerous criminals back to the streets, the other which would further defund the police by eliminating revenue for police training and police retirement. Eight Democratic state Senate members and candidates also signed the pledge. While not all current Democrat house members signed the pledge, if all 47 of the pledge signers were elected, they would represent 85% of the current 55 Democrat members of the state House. Included in part of the pledge is the policy statement: “Police funding...has been shown to have no connection to crime rates” House Speaker Tim Moore (R-Kings Mountain) scheduled a press conference for Monday, Sept. 14 and released the following statement: “This radical pledge by House Democrats to defund police in North Carolina is a betrayal of the basic public trust to keep families safe, particularly in times of crisis, as crime rates rise in other areas led by the radical left,” Moore said. “Assessing expenditures on policing to identify evidence-based ways to generate savings...especially communities most impacted by current policing practices,” is an official policy promise of House Democratic leaders and candidates to North Carolinians,” Moore continued. “It is stunning that House Democrats in North Carolina would sign a pledge to defund law enforcement, and that so many in their caucus would join with radical national liberals promising to cut funding for police officers who protect innocent people.” Moore further noted that in exchange for at least $100,000 in donations, House Democratic candidates pledged to enact legislation requiring “a comprehensive review of the state’s police funding” to “reduce excessive policing.” The pledge is advocated and promoted by the organization Future Now Fund, and found at this link: <https://www.futurenow.org/> The group is classified as a 501(c)(4) issue advocacy organization with the sole purpose of helping Democrats win state-level races.” (Foundation For Research On Equal Opportunity, 9/14/20)

Communities are safest when all residents have access to education, jobs and opportunities to build their lives -- higher education and employment levels are associated with lower crime rates. Police funding, on the other hand, has been shown to have no connection to crime rates. And police officers should be able to focus on the problems that they are trained to address, notably public safety, and free them from dealing with issues that others are more trained to handle like homelessness and substance abuse recovery. The Reimagine Communities Act involves impacted communities to invest police savings in proven youth, health, employment and housing programs that make communities safer.

"KING: So this is civilians responding to calls. Do police support that? WESTERVELT: They do because it relieves them, and it's cost-effective. I mean, on a budget of just over $2 million, this civilian team takes some 20% of Eugene's 911 calls. So it's saving money. It's saving police manpower. And also, Noel, this is key - these non-police interventions are keeping people out of emergency rooms and out of county jails. That's a huge savings. And remember, jails have become de facto America's biggest mental health facilities."

FAQ

Who does this help?

Research shows that expanding educational opportunities significantly reduces the probability of incarceration and arrest, and that access to jobs reduces criminal behavior. Assessing expenditures on policing to identify evidence-based ways to generate savings and increase public safety will benefit everyone, especially communities most impacted by current policing practices.

Is this high cost for the state government?

No. It merely allocates funding to a different mix of programs. In Eugene, OR, an alternate responder program in place for thirty years has saved the city about $8.5 million annually in public safety costs.

Is this reallocation to reduce policing costs popular?

Yes. Recent polling has found that 72% of voters support a new first-responder agency that addresses issues of addiction and mental health.

Make Communities Safer by Stopping the Use of Military Equipment Against Americans

Numerous studies have found that increased use of military equipment by police leads to increased civilian casualties. Yet since 2017, the Department of Defense has transferred nearly $760 million in military-grade equipment to local police and sheriff's departments with little oversight of how it is used. By stopping the transfer of military weapons to police departments, and bringing transparency to any non-weapon transfer of federal equipment, the Protect Communities Act will make communities safer and save money.

- The Coalition Behind The Assembly “Called For Ending Cash Bail And Predatory Fines And Fees; An End To Military Training For Law Enforcement; Investing Federal Funds Into Efforts To Desegregate Schools; And Moving Immigration Oversight Out Of The Department Of Homeland Security.” “The policy agenda by the coalition, the Poor People’s Campaign: A National Call for Moral Revival, seeks to offer a concrete road map for tackling the systemic injustices that have captured the nation’s attention in recent weeks after the police killing of George Floyd. “The worst mistake we can make now, with all the marching, the protesting in the streets, would be to demand too little,” said the Rev. Dr. William J. Barber II, a co-chair of the campaign along with the Rev. Dr. Liz Theoharis. “We are here today to say together, ‘It’s time to choose life, America,’” Dr. Barber said at the end of the rally, which was streamed online. “It’s time for us to do it together. It’s time for a moral revolution of values.” Although the organizers said their coalition — inspired by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.’s Poor People’s Campaign, an effort that was cut short by his assassination — was nonpartisan, it offered a boldly liberal agenda. Among many other proposals, it called for ending cash bail and predatory fines and fees; an end to military training for law enforcement; investing federal funds into efforts to desegregate schools; and moving immigration oversight out of the Department of Homeland Security.” (The New York Times, 6/20/20)

Victims’ Rights Amendment

What it is: “Constitutional amendment to strengthen protections for victims of crime, to establish certain, absolute basic rights for victims, and to ensure the enforcement of these rights.”

Why it is problematic: Again, Morey understands the appeal of this amendment to voters. “Who would vote against that?” But, she noted, victims already have constitutionally protected rights. The amendment has an estimated $30 million price tag which she described as a “train wreck for our criminal justice system.” Morey, a former judge, says an unfunded victim’s rights mandate would create a logjam in the courts, slowing the already heavily-delayed judicial process to a crawl.

Morgan: “Passing Heinous Bathroom Bills, Supporting Hate Groups That Seek To Divide Us, Branding Entire Religious Groups As Terrorists Or All Immigrants As Criminals, Merely Highlights The Negative Side Of Humanity.” “One of the key measures of a society is how well we treat each other and especially how we treat those who are different. electmarciamorgan I had very mixed emotions leading up to this Fourth of July. It’s always been a special day and I loved decorating my house with flags and banners, but this year was difficult. The recent Supreme Court decisions made me feel like the very freedoms this day represents were being taken away and that more erosion would follow. Then, I participated in a Freedom of Choice rally on Friday and was delighted and uplifted by the number of young women and men who were on that corner. The energy and enthusiasm was palpable and increased with every car that honked and gave a thumbs up as they drove by. Sure, there were a few negative responses, but they were few and far between. That rally gave me such hope for the future, that there are new generations who are ready to fight back. It’s time to link arms with each other and realize that our voices must be turned into our votes. It’s time to realize what we CAN accomplish when we work together. It’s time to take back our democracy and our flag. #fourthofjuly #independenceday

The Republican state legislature is more concerned with pushing their agenda than protecting the people they were elected to represent and it's time to hold them accountable. These nineteen women have stepped in to give North Carolina voters the voice they deserve. Electing pro-choice Democratic women to state offices is an important step in building up the pipeline in this critical swing state with a history of illegal gerrymandering. Hunting and Fishing Amendment

What it is: “Constitutional amendment protecting the right of the people to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife.”

Why it is problematic: Morey sees this amendment as “baiting voters.” It is very likely the average person will see this amendment as inconsequential. Yet the amendment still poses a threat. Any restriction to hunting and fishing, however reasonable, could be in danger if the amendment is passed. For example, there are currently statutes in effect that limit hunting in certain public areas. The passage of this amendment could result in the loosening of these restrictions as hunting rights enshrined in the constitution take priority.

LGBTQ

Transgender Bathrooms

In 2018, Morgan Criticized HB 2 As Symbolizing “The Regressive Policies Of The Current Legislature.” “An HB2 compromise between Republican lawmakers and Democratic Gov. Roy Cooper essentially repealed the law last year, though it failed to placate social conservatives or LGBTQ advocates. A year later, HB2 is no longer a hot button. But it has motivated at least a handful of candidates who see it as emblematic of a General Assembly that has taken the state in what they see as the wrong direction. “It is not the only thing I’m running on, but it is one of the things,” said Democrat Marcia Morgan, who’s running for a House seat in New Hanover County. A former Army officer and a lesbian, Morgan said HB2 symbolizes “the regressive policies of the current legislature.” Two Democrats running in Bishop’s District 39 are also talking about HB2.” (Charlotte Observer, 2/22/18)

- “HB2 Was The Law That Required Transgender People To Use The Bathrooms And Locker Rooms Of The Gender On Their Birth Certificate, Not Of Their Gender Identity, In Government Buildings.” “HB2 was the law that required transgender people to use the bathrooms and locker rooms of the gender on their birth certificate, not of their gender identity, in government buildings. It came in response to a Charlotte anti-discrimination ordinance and sparked a national backlash as corporations stopped investments in the state and the NCAA and ACC moved championships.” (Charlotte Observer, 2/22/18)

Morgan Further Criticized HB 2 As A “Very Dangerous Bill.” “But Democrats seeking to retake control of the legislature - along with at least one Republican primary challenger - hope to benefit from anger over the law and its aftermath. The situation adds to the GOP’s challenges in districts where Democrats are already energized in opposition to President Donald Trump and unhappy with state Republican policies on taxes, school choice expansion and the environment. "HB 2 was a very dangerous bill, and it got my attention," said Democrat Marcia Morgan, a lesbian and first-time candidate running this fall for the Wilmington-area House seat held by Republican Rep. Ted Davis." (The Associated Press, 3/30/18)

Systemic Racism

Morgan, In 2020, Noted “To Tackle Systemic Racism, We Must First Acknowledge That It Exists” And Called For Providing “Marginalized And Underserved Communities With Equitable Access To Fundamental Things Like Healthcare, Quality Public Education, Affordable Housing, And Employment Opportunities.” “Systemic racism has been at the forefront of the conversation in recent weeks, especially with law enforcement. What steps would you take to address this at the local level in your district? Morgan: To tackle systemic racism, we must first acknowledge that it exists. Then, we must bring everyone to the table to have open, frank discussions on how to provide marginalized and underserved communities with equitable access to fundamental things like healthcare, quality public education, affordable housing, and employment opportunities. I don't pretend to have all the answers, but I am committed to helping be part of the solution.” (Star-News, 9/28/20)

Confederate Monuments

Morgan Supports The Removal Of Confederate Monuments. “State law currently does not allow towns or municipalities to remove Confederate monuments, although some cities have found ways around it. Are you in support of that law, or would you work to change it? Morgan: My position is the same as the Society of Architectural Historians, which for the first time in its 80-year-history is advocating for the removal of monuments. I'd work to change state law while advocating for these monuments to be placed in museums or other historical environments where their history could be explained more fully and in greater context.” (Star-News, 9/28/20)

Voter ID Amendment

What it is: “Constitutional amendment to require voters to provide photo identification before voting in person.”

Why it is problematic: Getting people to vote is hard enough. This amendment would create an additional barrier. Complicating this, the amendment gives the legislature complete discretion to decide what constitutes a photo ID. This legislation could result in limited voting rights for students and veterans. Morey believes the Republicans “will decide [what constitutes as a valid ID] in a way that will help Republicans win.”

Everybody has the right to live. The U.S. Constitution was established to "promote the general Welfare and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity." Given the abundance that exists in this country and the fundamental dignity inherent to all humanity, every person in the United States has the right to dignified jobs and living wages, housing, education, health care, welfare, and the right to organize for the realization of these rights.

We demand the immediate implementation of federal and state living wage laws that are commensurate for the 21st century economy, guaranteed annual incomes, full employment and the right for all workers to form and join unions.

We demand an end to anti-union and anti-workers' rights laws in the states.

We demand equal pay for equal work.

We demand fully-funded social welfare programs that provide cash and in-kind assistance directly to the poor, including poor families. We demand an end to the attacks on SNAP, CHIP, HEAP, and other vital programs for the poor.

We demand equity in education, ensuring every child receives a high-quality, well-funded, diverse public education. We demand an end to the re-segregation of schools. We demand free tuition at public colleges and universities and an end to profiteering on student debt. We demand equitable funding for historically black colleges and universities and for Native, Tribal and Indigenous educational institutions, whose missions have not outlived their purpose.

We demand the expansion of Medicaid in every state and the protection of Medicare and single-payer universal health care for all.

- We demand relief from wealth inequality.
- We demand that the wealthy and corporations pay their fair share of our country's urgent needs around decent and affordable housing, free public education, a robust social safety net and social security. We demand the repeal of the 2017 tax breaks for the wealthy and big corporations and the reinvestment of those funds into public programs for housing, health care, education, jobs, infrastructure and welfare for the poor.
- We demand that the nation and our lawmakers turn their immediate attention to passing policies and budget allocations that would end child poverty. This includes a public hearing on the federal and state institutions charged with child safety and protection, including on how their resources are used to take children away rather than strengthening families.

- We demand 100 percent clean, renewable energy and a public jobs program to transition to a green economy that will put millions of people in sustainable living wage jobs.
- We demand a fully funded public water and sanitation infrastructure that keeps these utilities and services under public control and prioritize poor, rural and Native communities that have been harmed by polluting and extractive industries. This infrastructure must provide consistent, safe, reliable and affordable access to water and sanitation services such as refuse collection, containment and sewage systems, so as to prevent any leaks or leaching of lead or other toxins. This includes ending water shut offs.
- We demand a ban on fracking, mountaintop removal coal mining, coal ash ponds, and offshore drilling. We demand a ban on all new pipelines, refineries, and coal, oil, and gas export terminals. We demand that extractive industries be held accountable for the air, water and land they have polluted and poisoned and financially responsible for clean-up processes.

We have the right to protect our communities from the ravages and weapons of war.

- We demand an end to military aggression and war-mongering.
- We demand a stop to the privatization of the military budget and any increase in military spending. We demand a reallocation of resources from the military budget towards our human security, including towards education, health care, jobs and green infrastructure needs, and strengthening a Veterans Administration system that must remain public.
- We demand a ban on assault rifles and a ban on the easy access to firearms that has led to the increased militarization and weaponization of our communities.
- We demand the demilitarization of our communities on the border and the interior. This includes ending federal programs that send military equipment into local and state communities and ceasing the call to build a wall at the U.S.-Mexico border.
- We demand an immigration system that, instead of criminalizing people for trying to raise their families, prioritizes family reunification, keeps families together and allows us all to build thriving communities in the country we call home.

“The 314 Action Coalition Was Founded By Members Of The Science, Technology, Engineering And Mathematics (STEM) Community, Grassroots Supporters And Political Activists In July 2016 And Has Over 400,000 Active Members And Donors Across The Nation.” “The 314 Action coalition was founded by members of the science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) community, grassroots supporters and political activists in July 2016 and has over 400,000 active members and donors across the nation. Members of the coalition are concerned that STEM education in the United States is falling further behind the rest of the world, that political leaders continue to deny scientific facts and that Congress fails to fully fund scientific research to solve pressing issues, according to the news release.” (Herald-Times, 4/26/18)

- 314 Action Is Regarded As A “Dark Money” Organization Due To Its Undisclosed Donations To Its Non-Profit Arm. “Linda Kenney, a professor of microbiology at the University of Illinois at Chicago College of Medicine, says something has to be done about the “dumbing down of science” by politicians. After reading about a group called 314 Action working to elect scientists to public office, it did not take much for Kenney to open her wallet. Now Kenney says she donates about $100 monthly to the group. “This is way overdue,” she says. “I don’t know if it’s money well spent, but it’s something I can do and I believe in it.” Kenney agreed to discuss her contributions for this story. But 314 Action plans to raise $5 million to $7 million for current candidates, and it will be impossible to know where the bulk of the money is coming from. That is because the group, named for the first three digits of pi, is taking advantage of a widely used and controversial campaign finance apparatus: a nonprofit arm that does not disclose its donors. This practice has been dubbed the use of “dark money” in the political world. It has become fairly standard for groups of all stripes—from Republicans to Democrats and from powerful business interests to unions. Planned Parenthood uses these undisclosed donations. So does the National Rifle Association. It is legal. But the practice also means the general public cannot learn much about the original sources of money behind political candidates. Aside from its nonprofit, 314 Action is also raising and spending money via a separate political action committee, or PAC, that is required to report donors to the Federal Election Commission (FEC). But most of the group’s funds will come from the nonprofit arm, which has no such requirement. It is registered as a “social welfare” group under section 501(c)(4) of the U.S. tax code. Nonprofits such as this, which advocate for policy issues, are forbidden from contributing directly to candidates. Nor are they allowed to make electioneering their primary activity. But they are allowed to spend some of their money on political TV ads, radio spots, mailers and digital communication to support or oppose candidates without having to disclose donors.” (Scientific American, 3/28/18)

314 Action Supports U.S. Participation In The Paris Climate Agreement. “Josh Morrow, 314 Action’s executive director, says that for the most part the group uses its nonprofit arm to train candidates and for issue-based advocacy such as an online petition in support of the Paris climate agreement. But in this year’s elections, for the first time, money from the nonprofit will be used to buy political ads that help candidates who are often scientists running their inaugural campaigns. “For us, it’s about leveling the playing field for our nontraditional candidates,” Morrow says. He also notes most donors contribute relatively small amounts, not millions of dollars.” (Scientific American, 3/28/18)
